

Client Attraction for Service Professionals

A focused strategy for getting clients now

One of the biggest mistakes Leah sees service professionals make is not having a clear enough focus on how they are bringing in clients. More often than not, she finds them in a space where they are creating an overwhelming business plan, chasing marketing rabbits down holes and merely guessing about what outcomes can truly be expected.

This presentation will offer an overview of what it takes to build a business specifically for service professionals. It is designed to empower you with a new clarity and focus on what it is you need to do to reach your vision of success.
